

FROM THE DESK OF MATT GONZALEZ

One of my proudest legacies as a Member and President of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors is implementing instant runoff voting.

I've been working on "IRV" with FairVote -- The Center for Voting and Democracy since my election in 2000. We developed a plan, won a place on the ballot, overcame $100,000 in negative attacks in winning at the polls in 2002 and have persevered to see IRV implemented this November -- and every November in San Francisco thereafter.

Instant runoff voting is an essential reform for progressive politics. Our outdated election system divides us and stifles our voices. Just imagine if anyone could run for office without any fear of spoiling the election -- and the candidate with the majority of support won the presidency every time.

San Francisco has restarted the American tradition of instant runoff voting, which was developed by Americans in 1870 but implemented first elsewhere.

I want to see our work here spark other adoptions in other cities and states -- not only in the Bay Area, not only in California, but across the nation.

Please help us dedicate ourselves to raising expectations for democracy. Join us as we strive forward for innovative elections, not archaic mistakes. I join Congressman Jackson in urging you to give generously to FairVote - The Center for Voting and Democracy.

Matt Gonzalez

President, Board of Supervisors
San Francisco

FROM THE DESK OF MATT GONZALEZ

One of my proudest legacies as a Member and President of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors is implementing instant runoff voting.

I've been working on "IRV" with FairVote -- The Center for Voting and Democracy since my election in 2000. We developed a plan, won a place on the ballot, overcame $100,000 in negative attacks in winning at the polls in 2002 and have persevered to see IRV implemented this November -- and every November in San Francisco thereafter.

Instant runoff voting is an essential reform for progressive politics. Our outdated election system divides us and stifles our voices. Just imagine if anyone could run for office without any fear of spoiling the election -- and the candidate with the majority of support won the presidency every time.

San Francisco has restarted the American tradition of instant runoff voting, which was developed by Americans in 1870 but implemented first elsewhere.

I want to see our work here spark other adoptions in other cities and states -- not only in the Bay Area, not only in California, but across the nation.

Please help us dedicate ourselves to raising expectations for democracy. Join us as we strive forward for innovative elections, not archaic mistakes. I join Congressman Jackson in urging you to give generously to FairVote - The Center for Voting and Democracy.

Matt Gonzalez

President, Board of Supervisors
San Francisco

FROM THE DESK OF MATT GONZALEZ

One of my proudest legacies as a Member and President of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors is implementing instant runoff voting.

I've been working on "IRV" with FairVote -- The Center for Voting and Democracy since my election in 2000. We developed a plan, won a place on the ballot, overcame $100,000 in negative attacks in winning at the polls in 2002 and have persevered to see IRV implemented this November -- and every November in San Francisco thereafter.

Instant runoff voting is an essential reform for progressive politics. Our outdated election system divides us and stifles our voices. Just imagine if anyone could run for office without any fear of spoiling the election -- and the candidate with the majority of support won the presidency every time.

San Francisco has restarted the American tradition of instant runoff voting, which was developed by Americans in 1870 but implemented first elsewhere.

I want to see our work here spark other adoptions in other cities and states -- not only in the Bay Area, not only in California, but across the nation.

Please help us dedicate ourselves to raising expectations for democracy. Join us as we strive forward for innovative elections, not archaic mistakes. I join Congressman Jackson in urging you to give generously to FairVote - The Center for Voting and Democracy.

Matt Gonzalez

President, Board of Supervisors
San Francisco