

Published on Public Campaign Action Fund (<http://www.campaignmoney.org>)

Job Opening: Deputy Director

Deputy Director

Public Campaign Action Fund's Campaign Money Watch (CMW), a nonpartisan watchdog campaign, is looking for a strategic, creative, and experienced senior-level staff person to help implement an ambitious campaign in 2008. CMW runs the pre-eminent anti-corruption and pro-reform voter education campaigns in the country, having played leadership roles in former House Majority Leader Tom DeLay's downfall, Ralph Reed's failed bid for elective office, and several other efforts over the past five years. Based on the experience of the 2006 elections and voters' continued anger over corruption, CMW will utilize sophisticated paid and earned media and organizing strategies to raise the issue in key races around the country, connecting the dots between campaign fundraising and politicians' positions on important issues.

Job Description

The Deputy Director will work closely with the Director and other senior staff to develop and implement strategic campaigns in at least a dozen states to drive a narrative about money in politics, reform, and corruption. The Deputy Director will share responsibilities for hiring and supervising staff with the Director. He or she will work with media and public opinion research consultants to help determine effective messages and themes for several campaigns. The Deputy Director will be the leader in the campaign's Washington headquarters, and will oversee the administrative functioning of the office and the organization's federal filings.

Qualifications

The Deputy Director shall possess:

- At least five years of campaign experience, or a combination of campaign and organizational

- experience;
- At least two years of experience in a senior, supervisory, or management level;
  - Excellent political judgment and strategic thinking, both short-term and over the horizon;
  - Strong written and verbal communication skills;
  - Ability to pay attention to detail while juggling multiple tasks at once;
  - An understanding of communications strategy, the news cycle, polling, and paid media;
  - Self-starting and entrepreneurial skills;
  - Willingness to work long, flexible hours and a desire to seeing something through to completion; and
  - Experience with online campaigns and communication.

Salary

$70,000+ per year, with competitive benefits.

To Apply

Send resume, cover letter, and three references by January 15, 2008 to David Donnelly, Director, Campaign Money Watch, 1320 19th Street NW, Suite M-1, Washington, DC 20036, or by email to [ddonnelly \[AT\] campaignmoney \[DOT\] org](mailto:ddonnelly@campaignmoney.org), or by fax to 609-371-0086.

Public Campaign Action Fund's Campaign Money Watch is an equal opportunity employer. People of color, ethnic minorities, women, LGBT people, and others encouraged to apply.

---

Source URL:

<http://www.campaignmoney.org/jobs/deputy-director>